Mounties Arrest C.I.O. Strike Leader

OTTAWA (CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials said today that C. S. Jackson, vice-president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' Union (C.I.O.) will be interned because of "subversive activities."

R.C.M.P. officers would make no other comment on the case.

Jackson was apprehended at Malton, Ont., yesterday, by R.C.M.P. and city officers under the Defence of Canada regulations. He originally was summoned to appear in police court at Toronto today on a charge of inciting workers of the Canadian General Electric Company plants at Toronto to strike.

At Hamilton, shop stewards of the union local of which Jackson is vice-president called a one-day stoppage of work at the plant of the Canadian Westinghouse Company in protest against Jackson's arrest.

Fourteen employees of the C.G.E. were charged with illegally striking and five of these are also charged with inciting to strike. Jackson was not an employee of the company.

MESSAGE TO CHURCHILL

Labor officials said about 1,000 employees remained out of the Westinghouse Company in Hamilton and 700 of these attended a mass meeting this morning. The plant employs about 4,000.

George Harris, union organizer, at the meeting read a cablegram to Prime Minister Winston Churchill protesting Jackson's arrest and this was endorsed by the men. A copy of the cable was also sent to the Ottawa authorities. It read as follows:

"Members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' of America meeting today in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, voted to inform you of and vigorously protest against what we consider to be completely anti-democratic government action directed against organized labor, namely, the arrest of our vice-president, C. S. Jackson, presumably under Defence of Canada regulations. Contrast this with release of two prominent wealthy Fascists, Franceschini and Massoli. Consider this action approximated Hitlerism."

The cablegram was signed by Alf Ready, chief steward.

Harris told the meeting that although the workers in the "gun plant" are organized 100 per cent they were asked not to stop work today and as a result was not stopped in that department.

Vichy Loses Ship

LONDON (CP)—One Vichy French destroyer has been "almost certainly sunk" by British aerial torpedoes and two others damaged in fighting with British warships off the coast of Syria, the Admiralty announced tonight.

U.S. to Give Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt declared today this country would give all the aid it possibly could to Russia.

While holding out this promise of material assistance to the Russians in their battle against the forces of Nazi Germany, Mr. Roosevelt said it could not be determined yet what form this help would take.

He said that no list of Russian needs had yet been submitted and probably when it was submitted it would not be filled by taking it down to a department store.

Another Night Raid

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force swept over the French coast in force again tonight in a big offensive operation to round out two weeks of nightly bombing of German industries, communications and bases.

The attack followed up days of light raids in which heavy explosions rolled back across the English Channel.

Troops Near Plant

LOS ANGELES (AP)—U.S. Army troops, which two weeks ago seized the big plant of North American Aviation Corporation here, moved out at noon today, but this afternoon were bivouacked nearby on the Metropolitan Airport.

Sea of Flame

LONDON (CP)—Reuters' News Agency reported in a Stockholm dispatch tonight that observers on high buildings in Helsinki saw through binoculars what they described as a "sea of flame" over Tallinn, the capital of Estonia, across the Gulf of Finland. It was presumed, Reuters said, that the city had been set ablaze by bombing.

Coal Strike Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Mine Workers union policy committee voted today to refrain from work in southern Appalachian coal mines after July 7 unless by that time the union and the southern operators have signed a new two-year wage agreement.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Street railway employees of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster have accepted the majority award of a provincial arbitration board recommending a 6 cents an hour wage increase. R. K. Gervin, business agent of the street railwaymen's union, announced today. The vote, which was taken yesterday, was 856 to 642. Three ballots were spoiled.

Thomas Gray, Royal Air Force.

Another £1,000,000,000 Voted for War Purposes

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons today voted £1,000,000,000 ($4,450,000,000) for war purposes.

In moving the credit vote, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Kingsley Wood, told the House this amount would last about three months at the present rate of expenditure, about £333,000,000 a month.

He said it would be necessary for him to ask the House in the autumn for more funds. The last such credit was voted in February.

Supplies received from the United States under the aid to Britain bill were not included in the vote, the Chancellor said.

Sir Kingsley added that for the five weeks ended June 21 Britain's rate of war spending had been £72,000,000 a week.

No Churchill Speech

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today he wanted more time before reviewing the war in the Middle East for the House. This, he said, is a topic "we discussed so fully a fortnight ago."

Pickford in Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mary Pickford, star of the silent films, is under observation in the Cleveland Clinic and will remain most of this week, Dr. Charles Higgins said today. Clinic officials emphasized she was not seriously ill.

579 Portland Paper Carriers Here

The oldest was a man of 70 and the youngest a girl of eight in a party of 579 paper carriers of the Portland Oregonian who arrived here on the 1250 Seattle boat today on a three-day international education tour sponsored by the Portland newspaper. Part of the large crowd is shown above, on the forward deck of the steamer.

Canada's War Effort

'Remarkable, Tremendous' Says Ker, Back From East

"A visit to eastern Canada cannot but impress one with the magnitude of this country's war effort," said R. H. B. Ker on his return Sunday from a month's visit across the continent.

"The activity is tremendous, considering we started from nothing," he said. "People in the west have no fear, that the east is not working to the limit of its ability. I have been east several times since war started, but the difference I noted this time is enormous."

"Things have gone beyond the blue prints and the production stage is in full swing. In Toronto I was taken through the Bren gun plant. This is something that Canada can really be proud of. And when you get to Halifax, you come really close to war operations. Activities there are tremendous in every way."

Mr. Ker said he was amazed at the growth of the British Commonwealth air training plan. He saw many of its activities at first hand.

"This plan is operating in remarkable fashion," he said. "The many air fields all over the country are humming with activity. This, from practically nothing in a year and a half, is one of the greatest achievements Canada has made. When the full story of what this country has done can be told Canadians will be amazed."

The result of the Victory Loan was a great satisfaction to everyone, in all parts of the country, but recruiting was causing some concern, Mr. Ker said.

CONSCRIPTION TALK

"The necessity for conscription is being widely talked about, but above, on the forward deck of the steamer.

The party poured off the boat into buses which took them on a tour of the city and outlying districts including Butchart's Gardens.

They returned to the Crystal Garden at 3 for swimming before eating supper there. This evening was left free for the "newsies" to do as they pleased before boarding the Vancouver boat at midnight.

Alderman W. H. Davies met the party as representative of Mayor McGavin. He was accompanied by Albert Jones, circulation manager of the Times.

In charge of the tour is D. M. Sims, country and suburban circulation manager of the Oregonian. The party left Portland last night.

The boys, girls, men and woman who made up the party won the trip by each selling 26 subscriptions to the Oregonian during the year. This is the third year an educational trip has been offered. The first two trips included visits to the San Francisco Golden Gate Exposition.

"If all men of military age and physical ability appreciated their duty to their country in its hour of vital need talk of conscription should be superfluous. Young men are missing an indispensable part of their education by not taking part in the war activities of the nation; they are failing in their duty and cannot expect to, stand up beside their fellow men who have done their duty and return to civil life afterwards. In fact, I think it should be, after the war, a necessary qualification for public service that a man should have served his country in wartime in some essential capacity."

"Where are the girls and the young women?" Mr. Ker asked. If they are determined, they could exert a much greater influence on their men friends to join the army than has been apparent lately in the recruiting campaign."

Mr. Ker went east primarily to attend, in Ottawa, a meeting of the newly-formed Air Cadet League of Canada, of which he and A. W. Carter are British Columbia directors. They met the Air Council of Canada and Air Minister Power. In Halifax Mr. Ker talked with Commodore G. C. Jones, R.C.N., head of the Atlantic division of the Canadian Navy and a former Victorian and Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey, head of the eastern air command, also formerly of Victoria.

Nazi Spearhead Pushes 125 Miles Into Russia

Canadian and Associated Press

Russia's huge army, battling German mechanized columns on the far-flung Baltic-to-Black Sea front, claimed today to have thrust two invading German forces back across the Soviet frontier.

"The thing now," said Pravda, the Communist Party organ, "is to smash the vile Fascist beast which dared to lift its blood-stained paw against our free life."

At the same time Reuters' news agency, in a dispatch to London, based on Vichy news agency reports from the "German-Russian front," today said one German spearhead has penetrated 125 miles into Russian territory in a drive through Brest-Litovsk that has Minsk as its next objective.

At Helsinki the Finnish press bureau said today the German army had broken the central part of the Russian defence line. Details were not given.

Nazi Statement Names No Towns

A German communiqué dated "the Fuehrer's Headquarters," declared today that "in the east operations of the German army take their planned course, with great successes."

That opening sentence was the only reference in the communiqué to operations against Russia, but DNB, German news and propaganda agency, reported Nazi forces had broken through a strong line of Soviet bunkers in the "middle of the eastern front," after hard fighting.

The agency admitted Russian air raiders had flown into East Prussia this morning, but claimed they were driven off by anti-aircraft fire and forced to drop their bomb cargoes in open fields.

Naval action was reported from the Baltic Sea, where a Nazi submarine was claimed to have sunk a Russian submarine off the Soviet stronghold of Windau on the Latvian coast.

The Nazi air force, according to the German press, dealt dawn-to-dusk blows to Red Army concentrations and supply and communication systems.

Russians Claim Successes in Air

Russian sources in Ankara were quoted as saying the Soviet air force was holding its own in heavy air fighting on all fronts.

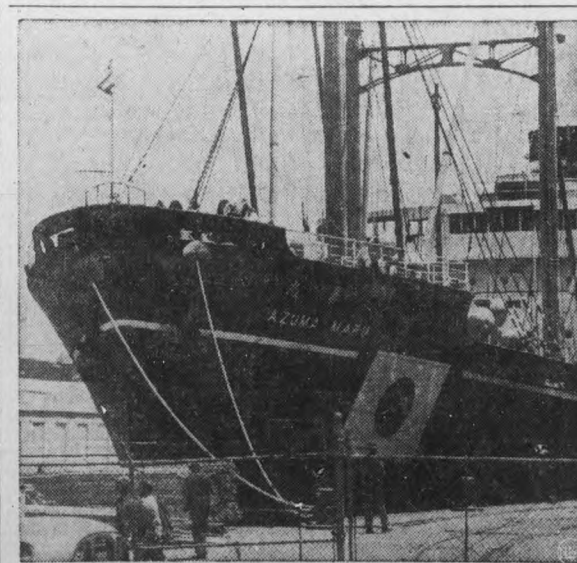

German sources in the Turkish Capital were said to have heard that the Russians in Bucovina—which they took from Rumania last year—were taking the offensive and giving the Germans "very strong opposition."

Reuters' quoted dispatches from Bucharest today as saying the Lyons radio had reported that Rumanian troops had occupied Cernauti in the Province of northern Bucovina.

The province was taken from Rumania by Soviet Russia under ultimatum more than a year ago.

Nazis in Ankara privately claimed 500 Russian planes had been destroyed on the ground during the first 36 hours.

Helsinki and other Finnish coastal towns heard distant explosions in the direction of Estonia, across the Baltic, today.

NO OIL FOR JAPAN THIS TRIP — Acting on orders from Secretary Ickes, defence oil co-ordinator, customs authorities halt shipment of 252,000 gallons of lubricating oil destined for Japan on the Japanese freighter Azuma Maru, above at a Philadelphia dock, awaiting its cargo. Ickes took action when a firm engaged in defence work protested that it was unable to obtain oil, while this large consignment was being permitted to leave the country. General export ban may follow.

Aerial lookouts reported observing smoke and explosions along the Estonian coast.

Ships Fight Planes Over Black Sea

Reuters' news agency in a dispatch to London from Ankara today told of unconfirmed reports that Russian cruisers, destroyers and submarines were battling German aircraft off the Bulgarian coast of the Black Sea.

These reports, said to have come from the Bulgarian port of Varna, declared the Germans had mined the Bulgarian and Rumanian coasts, leaving only a narrow channel leading to the Bosphorus, one of the Turkish straits linking the Black Sea to the Mediterranean.

Russians Say 5,000 Nazis Captured

The Red army, in the first two days of fighting against its first really powerful opponent, claimed capture of 5,000 German prisoners, destruction of 300 German tanks and the shooting down of 127 Nazi planes.

The Soviet high command at the same time acknowledged loss of three frontier towns—Brest-Litovsk, Kolno and Lomza—as well as other penetrations into Sovietized Lithuania and eastern Poland.

Inside Russia measures were taken to frustrate fifth columnists and "panic-mongers." Pravda printed a severe warning, serving notice that "each and every one attempting in these tense and hard times to violate discipline and spread panic will be regarded as an enemy of the Soviet state and treated mercilessly to the full extent of wartime law."

Hand-to-hand Russians Say

First detailed accounts of fighting by Soviet war correspondents today described the Russian guards as "fighting like lions" against the brunt of the Nazi attack.

"They fought hand-to-hand," these accounts said, "and the enemy was unable to advance an inch except over their dead bodies."

Air Raid Drill In Moscow

A trial air raid alarm—sirens, gunfire and all, was staged from 3 to 4:30 a.m. today in Moscow, as an official check on air raid precautions.

Sirens and a radio alarm wakened sleeping Russians and sent them hurrying to shelters to an accompaniment of anti-aircraft fire and the roar of airplane motors overhead.

Germans Claim Prut River Crossed

The Nazi news and propaganda agency claimed German and Rumanian troops advanced in Bessarabia, evidently succeeded in crossing the Prut River, and now were heading towards the former Russian-Rumanian border.

Reports from Bucharest said Gen. Ion Antonescu, Rumanian premier, is commander-in-chief of mixed Rumanian and Nazi forces making the push into the former Rumanian province.

Advices from the centre command—stretching along the Russian-German border—were more meagre than those telling of German progress on the Rumanian frontier.

Nazi war correspondents, however, gave descriptions of assaults on Casemates on the far side of the Bug River. They claimed that after the Germans had "softened up" the positions by an hour "of hellish bombardment," the river was crossed in powerful "storm boats" or rubber rafts.

Dry Weather For Operations

A military observer for the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung wired his newspaper from "high staff headquarters of the east" that "border roads everywhere were crossed in the direction of the enemy" and added the weather was dry and roads firm, helping the offensive.

The Nazi air force made sallies on a "Black Sea submarine base," DNB said. Since, during the first 24 hours of the eastern offensive, Sebastopol was mentioned as an air objective, observers expressed belief the Crimean port again was struck. DNB described heavy fires and claimed considerable damage was done to docks.

All Nazi writers have held to the strict military rule not to mention any place where they are with troops in action. Consequently the German public must wait until the high command sees fit to mention details.

No More Dancing In Germany

The home front in Germany reflects signs of the new campaign. Dancing has been forbidden; the army mail service has come to a temporary halt; some Russian citizens have been held by the police; and some White Russians, of whom a great number have been living in Germany since the Bolshevik revolution, have to report their whereabouts to the police.

Reuters, quoting a Vichy agent, said "the German offensive from the north has Kaunas (capital of Lithuania) as its objective, where the German command apparently is counting on support from part of the Lithuanian population."

"Russian resistance, however, appears to be energetic in this sector."

"A third offensive is developing toward the Brody railway station on a line between Lwow and Loutska, 65 miles north of the Brody station, the dispatch said. Germans here are aiming at the creation of a salient leading from Lwow to the south and Kowel, important railway junction to the north," the Vichy report added.

The German high command was said to regard the Lithuanian and Polish front as the principal theatre of the war.

The Russians were said to be mobilizing slowly and German troops were confronted only by those troops massed at the front before the war started.

Enemy Tries Triangle Tactics

The Reuters' dispatch added a report from Bucharest quoting an Axis military expert as saying the Germans were employing "triangular tactics" in an attempt to isolate and destroy large bodies of Russian troops.

The German troops advancing from Lublin (Poland), for instance, were described as driving along the railway to Kiev in an attempt to meet another column advancing from Bucovina toward Cernauti, Berdichev and Kiev. If this attempt succeeds the Germans expect to cut off in this triangle some 30 Russian divisions.

First Fighting On Buffer Land

Russian circles pointed out today that so far, along the vast front the fighting was on buffer territory—the recently-acquired Baltic states, eastern Poland and Bessarabia—with which Russia extended her frontiers westward since the fall of 1939. Nazi armies must push across to the 250 miles of this buffer front before coming to Russia's old frontier—and, presumably, her principal defence lines.

The drives the Red army reported thrusting back "beyond the state frontier" were said to have been aimed toward Slalual (Shavli), 60 miles northeast from East Prussia into Sovietized Lithuania, and toward Rawa Ruska, 10 miles across the Soviet frontier from the government-general section of Poland—the section Germany kept under her control but did not annex after the 1939 fighting.

Eucharistic Congress Opens in St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Thousands of clergy and laity of the Roman Catholic Church are gathered here to greet an aged prince of the church, who today, tomorrow and Thursday leads them in their devotions and work of the Ninth National Eucharistic Congress.

Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia brought with him the credentials by which Pope Pius XII named him his personal representative. An entourage of eastern bishops came with him.

After a welcome from Archbishop John Gregory Murray of St. Paul, Cardinal Dougherty, in a procession of more than 100 automobiles, each bearing a bishop, rode to the St. Paul Cathedral, where, as an ambassador at court, he presented his credentials and formally became the papal legate of the Congress.

As such he officially opened the Congress today with pontifical mass, and became the spiritual leader of more than 500,000 worshippers who have gathered here.

A large group of Canadian archbishops, bishops and priests are attending the Congress. Among them are: Archbishop William Duke of Vancouver and Bishop Martin Johnson of Nelson, B.C.

(In Vatican City today an informed source said Pope Pius XII would broadcast a radio message to the closing session of the Eucharistic Congress at St. Paul, Minn., at 11 a.m., P.S.T., Thursday.)

C.C.F. Candidate

MISSION, B.C. (CP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr of Vancouver will stand in Dewdney riding as C.C.F. candidate in the forthcoming provincial election. She was named at a C.C.F. nominating convention here.

Export Restrictions Made Wider

OTTAWA (CP) — Extension by order-in-council of the list of commodities which may not be exported to any country without a permit was announced by Trade Minister MacKinnon.

The additional products for which an export permit is required include various animal and vegetable oils and fats, Pacific salmon, Pacific herring, cordage and twine, wood pulp, certain construction machinery, flax machines, manufactures of zinc, pigments, carbon electrodes, cryolite, fluorspar, a number of chemicals and rubber tires and tubes.

"Coincident with the passage of the new order-in-council an order was issued by the Minister of Trade and Commerce exempting from the export permit requirement shipments of many of the new commodities added to the list, when shipped to any part of the British Empire or to the United States," Mr. MacKinnon said. "Among the products so exempted are wood pulp and rubber tires and tubes."

In the case of Pacific salmon and Pacific herring, applications for export permits may be submitted to chief superintendent of fisheries, Vancouver. A few amendments have also been made in the regulations. One of these permits returning tourists to take 25 pounds of wool yarn out of the country without an export permit.

Rescue at Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A daring rescue near the brink of Niagara Falls was staged by Patrolman Joseph Klein when he saw a woman identified as Margaret Elmer, 55, Niagara Falls, retired school teacher, being swept toward the American rapids by the swift upper river current.

Klein seized a life rope, strung along the river bank, and waded into the river while volunteers held the other end of the rope on shore.

Flooding through the water so as to head off the woman, Klein grabbed her by the arm about 200 feet from the brink of the falls and both were hauled to safety.

Police Superintendent T. J. Holohan said the woman was dazed and unable for some time to answer questions regarding her plight.

E. A. RYAN

The individual pictures are of prominent executive officers of International Gyro who will be here. W. Wallace Robinson of Toronto is first vice-president, and is likely to become the new president. ling, of New York, is the third vice-president of International Gyro.

There will be over 500 delegates at the convention from all parts of Canada and the United States. Many of the visitors arrived yesterday and all the district governors will be here for their annual banquet tonight.

MUCH ENTERTAINMENT

The Empress Hotel will be the official headquarters for the visitors, the opening events there being a cocktail party at 5.30 and a dinner at 6.30 tomorrow evening. At 8.30 the presentation of stunts, the comedy highlight of the gathering, will be presented at the Crystal Garden. At 10, members will see a display of diving and swimming, and 11, will finish the evening with two hours of dancing.

At 9.30 in the morning on Thursday the opening business session will be held, this to be followed at 11.30 by fishing at Brentwood or golf at Colwood. A buffet lunch will be served at the golf club. Gyrettes will lunch at the Empress, following which they will take a scenic drive to Butchart's Gardens. An alternative to the drive will be golf at Oak Bay. At 7 Gyros and Gyrettes will reassemble at the Colwood clubhouse for a salmon barbecue and sea food dinner. Entertainment will follow this.

Members of the 100 clubs represented will meet for another business session on Friday morning at 9.30. On Saturday local members will see the visitors off on the 1.45 and 5 o'clock boat for the mainland.

It was in April, 1912, in Cleveland, O., that three friends, meeting together as was their wont, decided that unity of their friendship, which had crystallized through four years of college association, was worthy of some organized effort on their part to perpetuate it.

To bring within this unity other friends whose joining together would strengthen them against the diversified demands of business and other interests was the purpose of early organization.

NAMED IN 1912

The adoption of the name Gyro was accomplished in December, 1912, although a formal organization and a constitution had been decided upon June 24.

For two years Gyro existed solely as a Cleveland organization, growing slowly but steadily in strength and influence.

Chicago was the next city to be brought within the Gyro fold. A group of young men, animated by a similar purpose to that of the Cleveland Gyro Club had been meeting informally and the acquaintance of a member of this group with a Cleveland Gyro resulted in their absorption into the Gyro organization, signified by the granting of a charter to the Gyro Club of Chicago on November 3, 1914.

The distinction of the third city in Gyro belongs to Buffalo, N.Y. Philadelphia organized next.

Last Warning to Vichy Troops

British to Speed Decision in Syria

LONDON (CP) — To speed the occupation of Syria, Britain's Middle East command has been told to "be guided by military considerations alone," it was reported authoritatively today.

Gen. Sir Maitland Wilson was said to have been given "full authority to take whatever measures appear necessary, however drastic."

The Allied forces already have pushed a desert column to the outskirts of Palmyra, captured the Syrian capital of Damascus, and are astride the road from Damascus to the Lebanon capital, Beirut, it was reported here.

This, it was said, made the cutting off and capture of the Vichy

French general staff and large forces of Vichy troops "entirely probable."

From Cairo today Allied forces reported "an important advance" for their columns driving toward Beirut along the Mediterranean coast and added that "our artillery already is in action against the Vichy position at Damour," south of Beirut.

The communiqué of the British Middle East command also announced the Allies had captured Gatana, 15 miles southwest of Damascus, and were advancing toward the Damascus-Beirut road. Beirut therefore was menaced by advances both from the south and southeast.

Then International Association of Gyro Clubs, pretty much of a young man's organization, stressing friendship and fellowship, was organized in 1917, in Cleveland. Powers were granted to the international organization to protect the interests of the existing clubs and to provide for the admission of new clubs into the organization.

HAROLD DARLING

When the World War came, service to the country made heavy demands on the Gyro members and in consequence, club activities came almost to a standstill. Today comment is still made of the large number of Gyros who have war service records.

TAKES NEW LIFE

The spirit of Gyro, however, was too buoyant to be stifled and the organization took on new life after the armistice.

The gradual expansion of Gyro through contacts in various cities have given the international association over 100 clubs. The Victoria Gyro Club was organized in 1922.

OTTAWA BANS NEW OIL BURNERS

OTTAWA (CP) — Installation of new oil-consuming equipment of any kind has been banned in Canada for the duration of the war under an order announced by Oil Controller G. R. Cottrell.

The order, replacing order No. 2 dated September 16, 1940, also prohibits "sale, distribution or purchase" of fuel oil, bunker oil or furnace oil for heating or motive units not now requiring oil.

"The new order," said Mr. Cottrell's announcement, "permits present users of oil-consuming equipment to continue to do so, but spells the end for the (war's) duration of the installation or supply of any additional equipment, regardless of the oil to be consumed."

Urges U.S. Navy Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, honorary chairman of the Fight for Freedom Committee Inc., said in a statement issued here by the committee that the United States navy should sweep Nazi Germany off the seas at once.

King, Smuts Not to Travel

Premiers Unable to Attend Imperial Conference

LONDON (CP) — The Prime Ministers of Canada and South Africa, W. L. Mackenzie King and Gen. J. C. Smuts, have found it impossible to come to London in the near future to attend an imperial war conference, Prime Minister Churchill announced today.

Answering a House of Commons questioner, Mr. Churchill said: "As I have told the House, we very much desire such a conference and had hoped the end of July or the beginning of August might be a suitable occasion."

"I have now received replies to inquiries I have made," Mr. Churchill added. "Both Gen. Smuts and Mr. Mackenzie King regret the exigencies of their work in their respective countries make it impossible for them to come here in the near future."

"Mr. Menzies has only just returned to Australia, although I hope we shall see him here again before very long. Mr. Fraser, the Prime Minister of New Zealand, arrived last Saturday and is sitting with us constantly in our councils. He would not, however, be able to remain indefinitely."

"The House will readily understand that these Prime Ministers of important and powerful governments, with the legislature and the whole war effort of their peoples to guide, find great difficulties in meeting here simultaneously."

"I hope these difficulties may be resolved some time in the future, but for the present I feel it is impossible to fix a date."

Germany and Russia May Destroy Each Other

By WADE WERNER

NEW YORK (AP) — To call Germany's sudden thrust against Russia a turning point in the war would be an inadequate description of the military-political upheaval this new conflict involves.

It is more like the somersaulting change of design in a kaleidoscope. It puts a new face on the whole military, political and propagandistic picture of the war. Its repercussions are world-wide, affecting vitally the positions and policies of belligerents, neutrals, ex-allies and nonbelligerent allies alike.

From the purely military viewpoint it means Germany has hurled her vast army against a new opponent on a wider front than that army has had to cope with since the war began, and this at a moment when Britain is delivering her hardest aerial blows at Nazi power in the west.

It means, too, the first real test of the huge Red army and air force. The Red navy never has been rated a vital factor, but the strength of the Red army and the Red air force remained a puzzle and a controversy among experts even after the Russian invasion of Stricken Poland, the Russian war against Finland and the Russian seizure of Bessarabia from Rumania.

BLOW TO SOVIETS

Even if the Red army and air force perform brilliantly against Hitler's armored divisions and air fleets, the fact this new conflict opens with Germany apparently at the peak of her strength is a grievous blow to Soviet calculations.

The doctrine preached in Moscow in the year before September, 1939, was that the "second imperialist war" which must follow the "first imperialist war" of 1914-18 inevitably would result in the total destruction of the capitalist-imperialist powers and pave the way for a proletarian regime in Europe.

Now, however, it can be argued Germany and Russia have a good chance of mutually destroying each other; in which case it may be the so-called capitalist-imperialist powers who will be in a position to dictate the peace.

The Berlin-Moscow upheaval, however, carries jolts and new problems also for other enemies of Germany.

It is possible the Nazis may fight with new enthusiasm now that the original crusade against Bolshevism has been revived.

It is possible also a Hitler fighting against Bolshevik Russia may find more sympathy for his "new European order" among European populations who heretofore have viewed him only as a conqueror of their homelands and friend of Moscow. There still are many Europeans—particularly of the middle class—who fear Russian rule more than German rule. The rapidity with which a new Lithuanian government has proclaimed its independence from Russia evinced the trend.

Even beyond the borders of Europe the about-face of Germany confronts governments with the problem of how to crush Germany without Sovietizing Europe.

Propagandistically, Hitler has acquired a new weapon in the war of words. He can accuse his enemies of "fighting for Bolshevism." They retort that he is fighting for world dominance.

Australia Supports Churchill Declaration

CANBERRA (CP) — Prime Minister R. G. Menzies told Parliament today the Australian government "completely accepted" Prime Minister Churchill's Sunday outline of the attitude of the British Empire toward Soviet Russia. Members from all sides cheered the declaration.

Mr. Menzies said this attitude of Britain's and Australia's did not imply ideological sympathy with Russia, but was merely an indication of a common determination to defeat the Nazis.

The Prime Minister warned Parliament not to discount any attempt by Hitler to capitalize on the propaganda value of Germany's attack on Russia. Hitler had already announced the battle was one of free thought against Bolshevism.

"Such posturing is sheer hypocrisy," continued Mr. Menzies. "Hitler's real object is to obtain vastly increased supplies of grain and oil."

He added he hoped Russia would fight back successfully and thus have a major influence on the war's course.

Labor Party leader John Curtin said Germany broke any treaty if it stood to gain an advantage by so doing.

This proved, he continued, that to negotiate with the present regime would be futile.

"We welcome every country espousing our cause and which assists in the eventual downfall of Germany," Curtin added.

Nazis Must Win In 3 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nazi war machine must crush the Red army in three months or face disastrous difficulties, according to well-informed opinion here.

A smashing German victory within a month, as predicted in Berlin, is considered entirely conceivable, however.

The whole outcome of the Russo-German fighting hinges, it was said, on Red army strategy—whether the Russian forces follow the Poles' example and remain spread out in an attempt to defend all frontiers, or withdraw intact to interior positions to take advantage of rivers and other natural defenses. Unless a masterly retreat succeeds, the Red army faces the peril of being cut up quickly.

PINCER MOVEMENT

Assuming the Nazi objective to be destruction of the Russian forces as an offensive threat, it is believed the Germans may attempt a gigantic pincer movement from the north and south flanks of the 2,000-mile front, using Russia's great interior rivers to safeguard the flanks of the advance.

At the same time, experts expect a direct attack from the Warsaw front toward Moscow, more than 800 miles distant. After proceeding about half way to Moscow, these forces might swing north and south to join the attempted envelopment.

Once the heart of Russia between Moscow and the Black Sea is reached, the rest of the vast campaign would probably be merely a mopping-up operation.

The time limit of three months was based on climate and weather conditions and the state of Russia's transport system. Fall rains would tend to bog down the whole campaign.

The Nazi high command, it was noted, chose a time when the crops of the Ukraine are green and difficult to destroy by fire. Later in the season grain fields might be burned by the Russians to prevent the Nazis from gaining any immediate increase in their food supply from that region.

Reflection On the People

OUR MORNING CONTEMPORARY HAS discovered the reason why the Victory Loan was not oversubscribed by not more than one-third of the original $600,000,000 for which Minister of Finance J. L. Hilsley had asked. It says in part:

"It is certain that had a National Government been in power there would have been applications for subscriptions of over $1,000,000,000 to the late appeal. . . . Thousands failed to subscribe because they are opposed to party government in time of war. . . . Another reason for failure was dissatisfaction with the war effort as decreed from Ottawa."

Apart from this extraordinary view of the nation's magnificent response—a view, we venture to suggest, that will be shared by few, if any, newspapers in the whole Dominion—the Colonist tells us in the same breath that a point which "must be taken into consideration is that a very substantial percentage of the money was invested by large financial and industrial firms." There will be no disposition to debate this statement. But are we to infer from its implication that those institutions which bought bonds in amounts varying from $2,000,000 to $20,000,000 did so to express their disgust with the manner in which the country's business is being conducted by the government which the morning paper hates like the devil hates holy water, or because they, too, are impatient with what is termed, parrot-like, a "middle-of-the-road" war policy? And will it be seriously argued that a subscription list totaling 851,698 out of a population of a little more than 11,000,000 is a poor showing for this country—evidence, for example, that the Canadian people are in incipient revolt against the administration at Ottawa? After all, even though the government is not "National" in the Colonist's interpretation of the term, the electors chose it of their own free will 15 months ago—when they had the alternative—and accorded it the largest majority enjoyed by any political party in the history of the Dominion. One more question: Is the public asked to believe that the directorates of the "large financial and industrial institutions" referred to are for the most part composed of hard-shelled supporters of the King regime?

Consider, in contrast, the view expressed by the Vancouver Daily Province in an editorial yesterday. It said in part: "Canada's Victory Loan has been a huge success. . . . The Canadian people, out of their savings and out of their sacrifices, have responded nobly. . . . The success of the loan campaign has been particularly notable in British Columbia and the Yukon, where the per capita subscriptions were the highest in Canada. . . . The credit for the success of the loan goes first of all, of course, to the people of Canada who responded to the appeal for funds to make the tools to finish the job of ending Hitlerism. . . . A great deal of credit, too, goes to the organizers of the campaign and the workers who carried the message of the country's need to every citizen and every door. The organization was complete, the publicity was ingenious, consistent and varied and sustained enthusiasm to the very end. . . . All connected with the loan from the Finance Minister and the chairman of the campaign down are entitled to a hearty slap on the back."

Finally, one retort to the Colonist's implied insult to the intelligence of the Canadian people, and especially to the people of Greater Victoria who responded so nobly—that "a party government is handicapped in an appeal of this kind"—will be found in the official returns from Division 9. This area embraces the lower part of Vancouver Island, up to but not including the city of Ladysmith, or approximately 100,000 people, and out of that number 15,250 subscribed to the loan. And in the $25,000 and over class fewer than 50 subscribers are down on the record.

Origin of 'Nazi'

ONE OF OUR READERS TELEPHONED to this department yesterday to inquire the origin of the word "Nazi." It occurred to us that while most people may be aware of the full purport of the abbreviation, the detail supplied to our inquirer might not be out of place if repeated here. Therefore, those whom it has escaped for the moment will recall that in 1921-1922, when the movement was in its earliest infancy, the people of Munich found it difficult to talk about the "Deutsche Nationalsozialistische Arbeiterpartei" (which means the German National-Socialist Workers' Party) and proceeded to break it down into a more convenient form. From the long official title, then, its members began to call it "Sozi" for short—the name given to the original Socialists. Under pressure from the man in the street, however, it was thought "Nazi" would better fill the bill as a cross-breed between Nationalism and Socialism. "Nazi," by the way, is also an abbreviation of the Christian name "Ignatz," frequently used in Bavaria for describing a "rough" or, as we know him colloquially, a bad "tough guy." One way and another, therefore, the designation of "Nazi" seemed suitable. Those who answer to it live up to all the term officially and unofficially connotes.

What Tokyo Thinks

JAPANESE COMMENT ON GERMANY'S attack on "Russia would require the talents of the proverbial Philadelphia lawyer to elucidate. The men of Tokyo obviously are at their wits' end to know how to divide their allegiance between the manifold implications and commitments involved in the Axis military alliance and those of the pact which Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka signed in Moscow a few weeks ago. The government news agency Domei tells us today that the line of Japan's policy "has been laid down in principle," and that it is natural for the Mikado's kingdom to co-operate with Germany and Italy—"which are engaged in the reconstruction of Europe." Here is the elaboration of this strange manifestation of the spirit of Tokyo:

"This co-operation is aimed at destroying the systems of Anglo-American influence in Europe and the Far East. . . . Japan already has freed herself from dependence on England and the United States and adopted the only possible attitude toward England and America as countries of a hostile character. . . . In view of all this, Japan's feelings toward Moscow, which is co-operating with the Anglo-Americans, cannot remain unaffected."

Unlike Germany, however, Japan is in no position, or at least apparently in no mood, to employ the "Blitzkrieg" tactics which Adolf Hitler again set in motion without an hour's warning during the early part of Sunday morning. To lay down a policy "in principle" and to give effect to that policy—once the mind has been made up—is an entirely different matter. The men of Tokyo may fulminate against the governments of the British Empire and the government of the United States; they may cite their obligations to the European gangsters; they may even adopt the Hitlerian technique and tear up treaties solemnly arrived at. But Japan will be adding seriously to the difficulties she has been encountering in China for nearly four years the day she substitutes performance in force for restatement in principle.

'Private Business'

CAN A CITIZEN OF A TOTALITARIAN country, specifically, of Germany, Italy, Russia, or even Japan, properly make the claim at any time that he is engaged in "private business"? Totalitarianism being what it is, with every personal concern subjected to the state, it may rightly be assumed that citizens of such countries traveling abroad are always working more or less for their country's interests, not their own, unless the two happen to coincide. They would not be allowed to go abroad, in the first place, if this were not so. In the second, any "private business" they may have is so interwoven with state policy and state direction that it cannot be "private."

Democratic and other nations not yet at war with the Axis may be slow to realize this, being geared to a system where a man can have private interests and pursue them independently of, or even detrimentally to, the national interest. Yet our neighbor's experience and the experience of South America shows plainly that no citizen-in-good-standing of a totalitarian country can do this. Traveling abroad they are all, and in the nature of the case they must be, in the service of their governments to a greater or lesser degree. Mr. Roosevelt's action in closing German consular offices is proof of what he thinks of propaganda in the guise of "private business."

Notes

Next to having the door knob come off in the hand, the emptiest feeling must be driving miles to "see a blackout."

Since Grand Admiral Raeder cites it, it must be that the Nazi invaders have somewhere captured a book on international law.

Hermann Rauschning, former president of the Danzig Senate and associate of Adolf Hitler, has shown himself through his two books, "The Voice of Destruction" and "The Revolution of Nihilism," to be one of the best-informed critics of Nazi Germany. August 15 is now announced as publication date for "The Conservative Revolution" in which he will tell for the first time the story of his part in the Nazi domination of Danzig during 1933-34. He promises the book will be an answer to those who believe it is possible "to do business" with Hitler. It will be looked forward to, especially by readers of his other two books.

YOUNG MEN FEELING SENSITIVE

From Ottawa Citizen
Canada is calling for recruits. Whenever walking on the streets of Ottawa, or the streets of any city, we notice that there are many young men wearing civilian clothes. The public begin to ask themselves: "Why doesn't that young man enlist in the army; he looks healthy!"

Yes, he may look healthy; but perhaps he was rejected for medical reasons, or discharged medically unfit.

Does it not seem appropriate, upon discharge or rejection that a young man should be given a button to denote that he tried to serve his country? How about it?—Lorne Benham.

[The straightforward way would surely be the draft for military service as it is in the United States. No need for any man to explain why he is in civilian clothes. He reports for active service when called up.—Editor, Citizen.]

RE DARWIN

A GENTLEMAN, A. B. Sanders, has written a letter to the editor of this newspaper of more than common intelligence. He says that I preach doctrines precisely like those by which Hitler has enslaved Europe. This is unexpected praise.

Mr. Sanders is moved to this eulogy by certain fragmentary remarks made here about the theories of the late Charles Darwin, whom Mr. Sanders evidently understands. I never claimed to understand Darwin but, ignorant as I am, can see the results of him no further away than this town. But I was discussing merely Professor Jacques Barzun's new book, which shows that the thinking of our time and the monstrous shape of our age came largely out of the theories of Darwin, the economics of Marx and the art of Wagner.

(Do not be alarmed, poor reader, if you have come this far. We shall have no high-brow discussion in this place. You can count on it that never in this department will an idea be mentioned, and against learning the door is forever closed.)

WRONG

MR. SANDERS assumes that Darwin was right in his theory and that if he is right it could not possibly do any harm. As I read the record, Mr. Sanders is wrong on both points. Many true ideas, released among the ignorant, have done a great deal of harm, like telling children there is no Santa Claus and telling the poor that they can suddenly become rich if certain things are done. Both statements are correct, but are likely to make a great deal of trouble if you try to assimilate them too rapidly, like a sudden gulp of milk.

And, more important, Darwin does not appear to have been right in the first place. For as I read the record (perhaps erroneously, but subject to correction) Darwin did not merely propound the theory of evolution. Several other fellows had that idea. The important idea which he propounded was that evolution took place by accidental selection. In other words, that there was no plan in anything and that the universe was a vast machine without a soul, in which effect always followed cause.

This the modern scientists deny flatly. They have found enough in their test tubes to knock the mechanical universe and the principle of mechanism, of sure cause-and-effect, into a cocked hat. Evolution they accept, of course, but not as Darwin argued. Or so the learned fellows tell me.

STRANGE PROCESSION

BUT EVEN ASSUMING that Darwin was right—and that's okay by me—this does not alter what was written here before; namely, that strange, evil and incalculable results have followed the arrival of such an idea in the world. Darwin died, a deeply religious man, in terror of God Almighty and in the odor of sanctity, perhaps because he had some way of reconciling his science to his Deity. But the ordinary man, picking up this new idea, turning it over, and looking at it, could not reconcile it with any Deity whatever. The further Darwin advanced in the world, the further the idea of God retreated. And in the train of Darwin came a swarming anarchy of ideas, with minor prophets like Marx beating their tom-toms, shaking their devil-rattles, and proclaiming the class war and ham-and-eggs for everybody.

It will not do for Mr. Sanders to argue, as he does, that a modern, enlightened and democratic society can stand the truth and can digest Darwin without indigestion. The plain fact is that our society hasn't. We might, in time. We might build a race intelligent enough to be moral without any religious belief, orderly without the compulsion of law and virtuous without any belief higher than the sound economic administration of the state. We might in time, but we appear to be some distance away from it yet; a few centuries at least, and the fact that no race anywhere ever achieved anything of the sort is a trifle discouraging.

Our society everywhere, regardless of national boundaries, has gone into a tail spin of mental and moral anarchy because it lost its original belief in God and in itself. Darwin didn't think to provide a substitute. Men could believe what he attempted to prove, namely that there is nothing in life but certain chemicals acting according to certain laws, but they couldn't like it or respect or die for it.

That, alas, is the kind of creature we are. We are not advanced thinkers and educated gentlemen writing to the editor of this newspaper. And I hardly think the cure of our current disease will be found in the mere assertion of our sanity and intelligence, however ably they are asserted by men like Mr. Sanders. It will have to be found in a rather simple idea which men can get their teeth into. Darwin is too strong a diet for the human creature at his present level of intelligence, even assuming Darwin was right, and some of the best scientists are sure he was wrong.

THE THICK RED LINE

GERMANY'S attack on Russia has changed the whole war picture. It is obvious that it will have far-reaching political consequences. It will line up behind our war effort elements everything in their power to paralyze and sabotage it. It will just as certainly work the other way. For there are still people in every country, including Canada, with whom hatred for and fear of Communism are far stronger forces than dislike for Nazism, or love of democracy.

What is of immediate importance is the question which for years past has been a bone of contention among the military experts: How good is the Red army? Hitler probably expects to be able to knock out the Red army within a matter of weeks. Otherwise his whole move becomes not only reckless but suicidal.

If he is wrong, we can quite quickly get into a war effort tempo which will certainly assure the final and complete defeat of the Nazis within a year or two.

ALTERNATIVE

But the implications of the alternative outcome speak for themselves.

If Hitler does succeed in destroying Russian power to resist—say by August 1—the position of the democracies in general, and Britain in particular, will become even more perilous than it has been heretofore. For even in the worst days following the surrender by the faint-hearted French leaders we never did have to face the full fury of Nazi land and air power. The Germans were always forced to keep on the eastern front about half their military machine because they knew quite well what Stalin would do to them when the spirit moved him.

But all that is past. If Hitler wins the battle for Russia he can then move to the west, for the battle for Britain, his whole force—not half of it, as in 1940.

STALIN OR WINTER?

Numerically, the Red army and air force is at least as strong as Germany's. As early as 1938 many westerners said the Red army was no good. Colonel Lindbergh, who had more to do with engineering the Munich pact than any other outsider, went from group to group in the British Parliament telling them that the Red air force was a joke. We shall soon know.

But Max Werner's book, "The Few men have had such a long and distinguished career in public life as Mr. Hart in British Columbia and few have rendered greater service to the province than this good-hearted Irishman who never allows political rivalries or sectional hatreds to divert his mind from the business of doing his job in the treasury well.

AN EFFECTIVE AD

Life Magazine this week contains an effective advertisement, paid for by the T. Eaton Company Ltd., aimed at Americans planning their summer vacations.

The advertisement is in color, and half of it is a gay and spirited picture of a U.S. car standing beneath a fluttering Union Jack. Framed in the car window is a pretty woman. Standing near are the man and boy of the party, and an eager little terrier. "But," asks the small boy, "where is the border line, Dad?" Dad explains, in the brief copy, that the border line is an invisible thing—a line, the argument continues, "across which good neighbors join hands in trust and friendship."

That is the thought behind this message from a great Canadian commercial house to the people of the United States—that we are good neighbors on this continent, that Americans are welcome to "North America's Summer Playground," the more the merrier. It is a cordial and sincere message, and in that it speaks from the heart of Canada.

DOCTORS ACCEPT SAANICH OFFER

Saanich Council received last night a letter from the Victoria Medical Association accepting the municipality's offer of $185 a month for medical care of Saanich indigents. The agreement is subject to termination on two months' notice by either party.

Both parties expressed appreciation of the co-operative manner in which negotiations had been carried on.

The council ordered a letter written endorsing a suggestion from other municipalities that the provincial government should be asked for medical aid covering old age pensioners, mothers' pensioners and veterans.

Offers for lots were accepted from Sam Rentz, Mrs. F. Cockery, T. A. Heaslip, Carl Trowsdale and Mrs. F. H. Wells. A request from William Fielding to exchange lots on Browning Street also was approved.

A shack on property of C. W. Butler at Cordova Bay was ordered torn down within 30 days, with the alternative of prosecution. The structure previously had been condemned.

A water rate of only 50 cents a month for all Scout halls in the Saanich water area was approved. The council voted to provide the Saanich waterworks meter reader and collector with distinctive caps in order that the public might more readily identify them.

The council voted thanks to 33 municipal employees who helped put over the Victory Loan in Saanich by buying $2,150 worth of bonds.

A letter from residents of Cedar Hill Road asking for a fire hydrant near their homes was shelved pending a report from the municipal engineer.

WAR SAVINGS TICKETS DRAWN

Three local members of the war savings organization and two army men met yesterday in Parliament Square and for a few minutes became movie actors.

While a motion picture camera ground out the scene for inclusion in a film which will be shown throughout British Columbia, the men picked from a large brass bowl 46 tickets bought by members of the forces who attended the game between Vancouver and Victoria for the Army-Navy Rugby Cup. Net proceeds from the game were used to purchase war savings stamps, which will be presented to the holders of the 46 lucky tickets.

Taking part in the ceremony were W. T. Straith, member of the Greater Victoria executive committee; Kenneth Drury, chairman of the Greater Victoria publicity committee; Percy Richards, member of the provincial and Greater Victoria committees; Major B. Gwynne and Staff Sgt. J. M. Smith.

Macaulay Hut Popular

The Y.M.C.A. Hut at Fort

Macaulay has been active during the past week. On Sunday two religious services were held, and a wedding was solemnized by Padre Capt. Horton in the chapel on Wednesday. Fifty guests were present. On Friday evening Mrs. Stewart and her old-time orchestra played for a dance. This was attended by 200 and all voted it one of the most enjoyable dances ever held by the hut. The ladies for the dance were invited through Mrs. J. MacLaren of the personal invitation bureau of the Auxiliary Services. She also arranged 11 invitations for men to visit in private homes.

Table tennis was played by 155 men and 305 used the billiard tables. Despite inclement weather, three softball games were played between units in the Inter-services Softball League, arranged by Lieut. C. O. P. Woodward and Sgt. Burgess with the aid of the Y.M.C.A. secretary as umpire. Horseshoe pitches at the hut proved popular.

The canteen showed an increase, serving 1,823 men coffee, cigarettes and other needs.

Three movies were shown in the area and continue to be the most popular form of entertainment. During the week 2,905 sheets of "Y" stationery and 1,700 envelopes were used here and 639 letters were mailed by the "Y" staff for the men. A total of 1,610 men used the reading and writing room during the week.

MAIN EXPENDITURE ON OVERSEAS UNITS

OTTAWA (CP)—Of the $1,450,000,000 Canada expects to spend for war this year, $1,200,000,000 will go for the preparation and equipment of men for overseas service, Defence Minister Ralston said at a civic banquet here for visiting United States weekly newspaper publishers.

He had warm praise for the co-operation the United States has given Canada in her war effort, and for the many thousand Americans who have joined the Canadian forces.

He said there was no safety in the world today, "not even in Ottawa or New York," and that there would be no safety until Hitlerism and what it stood for had been destroyed.

For the benefit of the American visitors Col. Ralston described the Canadian effort in detail. Up to the present time Canada had not taken advantage of or used in any way the terms of the United States lease-lend legislation providing aid to Britain, Col. Ralston said. But Canadians and Americans were co-operating in defence of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and in production of war essentials.

IN FLYING FORCE—Charlie Darkis, son of Mrs. A. Darkis, Duchess Street, who enlisted recently with the R.C.A.F. Mr. Darkis was married last August to Miss Gladys Martin of Duncan, and had lived at 3161 Wascana Street. He had worked for the past three years at the Causeway Service Station.

Picture-Lectures

A series of 12 lectures has been prepared by a committee for use in training centres, dealing with the responsibilities of Canadian and Imperial citizenship, why the Dominion is at war and the purpose of the war. Intended to afford material for thought, the lectures will be delivered in the form of talks by junior officers. The National Film Board is obtaining films to illustrate the lectures which will be issued about the first week in July.

Cookery Courses

A special cookery instructors' course has been arranged for 20 candidates of A20 (Royal Canadian Army Service Corps) Advanced Training Centre, Red Deer, Alta., beginning June 20. Vacancies have also been allotted for the seventh course for cookery instructors at A19 (R.C.A.S.C.) Advanced Training Centre at Camp Borden, Ont., starting the same day.

School Opens

Training got under way today in one of the biggest bombing and gunnery schools to be established in Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, at Paulson, Man. The school cost approximately $1,250,000 to build. There was no opening ceremony.

Ask Premier for Daylight Saving

"Use what powers you have to bring about daylight saving as soon as possible," is the request the Esquimalt Council will make to Premier T. D. Pattullo.

The request resulted from a telegram received at the council's bi-monthly meeting last night from H. R. MacMillan, president of the Wartime Merchant Shipbuilding Limited, urging adoption of daylight saving as quickly as possible as an aid to shipbuilding.

The telegram read in part: "It is estimated in the shipbuilding program now under way in British Columbia, daylight saving for eight months each year, March to October inclusive, would increase working daylight time in the shipyards by 1,250,000 hours.

This additional working time is sufficient to construct two additional 9,300-ton freighters. Such an increase in working daylight hours is too important to waste, therefore, as president of Wartime Merchant Shipbuilding Ltd., which carries the responsibility of pressing forward Canada's shipbuilding program, I urgently impress upon you and the citizens of your community that you immediately set aside minor objections and adopt daylight saving."

Reeve Alex Lockley said he had notified Mr. MacMillan on receipt of the telegram in the morning that Esquimalt had endorsed a suggestion that daylight saving be enforced as a wartime measure but was bound by the larger surrounding municipalities on any further action.

The motion that Premier Pattullo be asked to do all in his power to bring the scheme into being was introduced by Councillor Thomas Hadfield.

Councillor Fred Eaton proposed an amendment to the motion that the Premier be called upon to take an immediate plebiscite on daylight saving, but his amendment received only the support of Councillor G. R. Guillemaud.

Councillor Albert Heald said he was not in favor of a plebiscite because it would delay action on the issue.

The Department of National Defence will be notified the council has not the power to sell a lot in Saxe Point Park. The department made an offer to purchase a lot in the park at the last council meeting. It was laid on the table until last night's meeting, when the municipal solicitor G. Seider, said the Municipal Act did not give the council authority to sell property of a park.

F. G. Aldous' plan of a proposed subdivision of a lot between Clent and Vaughan Streets into four small lots, each with beach frontage, was approved.

J. Erickson, who offered to purchase part of the large lot in question at the last council meeting, was sold one of the proposed lots in the new subdivision for $250.

Esquimalt House, a "for the troops" entertainment centre, was granted permission to erect sign posts directing sailors, soldiers and airmen and their wives to the premises.

G. Pullen, municipal clerk, was present at the meeting after an absence of several weeks due to sickness.

South America Pro-British, Says Visitor

Gertrude A. Hunt, who for the last 11 years has traveled the globe and now writes her adventures for Coast Magazine, is at the Empress Hotel, returning from Alaska aboard the Princess Louise. She will travel the island before she returns to San Francisco at the end of July.

"The Alaska trip," said Miss Hunt, "is too civilized" after eight months in South America. There I traveled for nearly four weeks on a river boat, carrying its own beef cattle, slaughtered daily as required, up the Amazon, flew in an old bomber across the Andes, went into the farthest corners of Chile, encountered grasshoppers eight inches long and other insects.

"You feed Brazilians beef three times daily or they think they are starved. We had 18 beef cows aboard the Districto Federal, when we left Para at the mouth of the Amazon. There were none when we reached Iquitos 25 days later. There were 20 first-class passengers aboard, including the British consul and his wife. Unnumbered third-classers who apparently were unfed slept among the cows below decks."

Miss Hunt found South America distinctly pro-British. She says it's just pro-Nazi propaganda that has pinned Nazi sympathies onto South America. Certain Argentinians of Italian descent, who had received Italian decorations returned them to the Italian ambassador of Buenos Aires after Italy entered the war.

Small, neat, conservatively but smartly garbed, looking the antithesis of the Rosita Forbes type female traveler, Miss Hunt can "take it" and likes it in rough corners of the world. She bewails the fact that most people wait too long before they travel.

Piano Pupils Give Recital

Piano pupils of Miss Florence Phillimore gave a recital last Saturday at her home, 1340 George Street.

Assisting with the program were Ethel James, president of the Music Teachers' Federation, who played and sang a patriotic song of her own composition, "Canada Calling," also Allan Tregear, pupil of Phyllis Hick, who gave two violin solos, accompanied by Miss Hick, and F. E. Simpson, who gave two patriotic recitations.

The program opened with the singing of O Canada, played by June Taylor. The following pupils took part: Mavis Natrass, Josephine Henderson, John Ellis, Gordon Irving, Lillian Price, Phyllis Frampton, Olive Inglis, Shirley Prezaun, Yvonne Davidson, Lucy Paribay, June Taylor, Helen McNaught, Doreen MacDougall, Freda Natrass, Mabel Merritt, Kathleen Fellow.

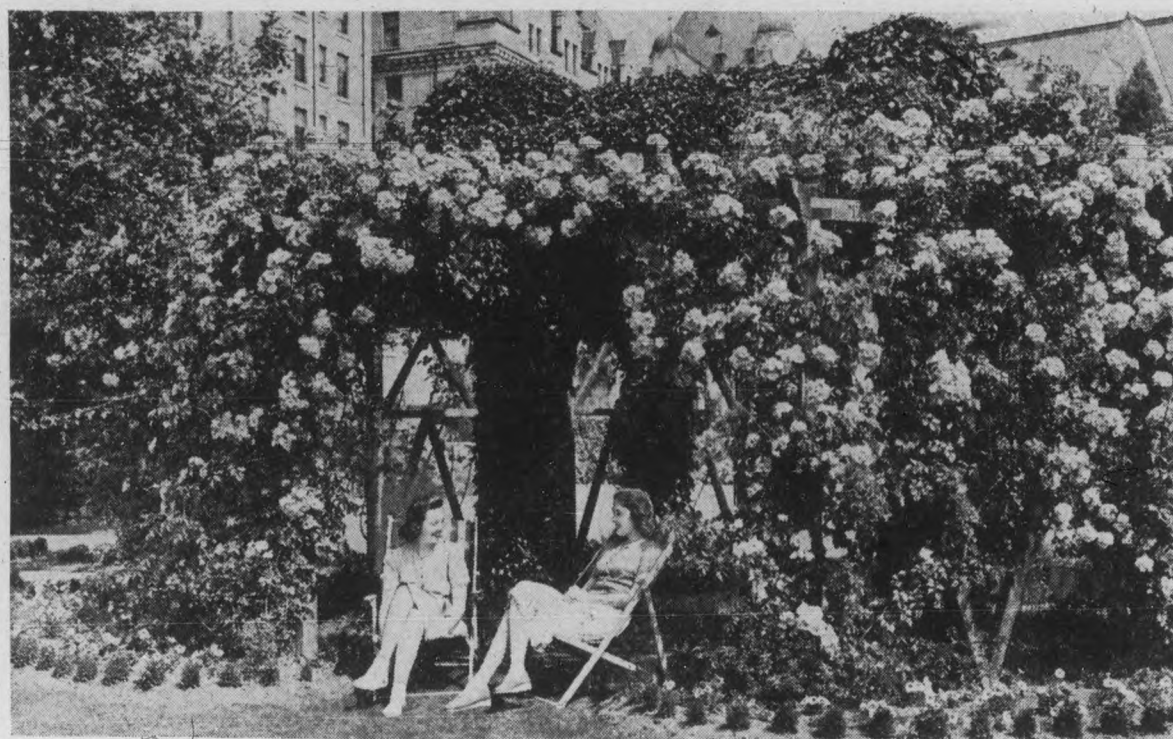

Josephine Henderson played the concluding God Save the King.

Lucy Paribay presented Miss James and Miss Phyllis Hick with flowers, and Mrs. J. H. White with a potted plant. Sylvia Southin, on behalf of the pupils gave Miss Phillimore a beautiful bouquet of carnations and glad-oli.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, assisted by Mrs. Phillimore, Miss F. Simpson and O. Evans.

ROBERTSON—ROBERTSON

The marriage was quietly solemnized on Saturday, June 21, at Fairfield United Church, of Elizabeth Alexandra (Bessie), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Vases of white lilies were arranged on the altar, below which was placed a bowl of pink dwarf gladioli and fern.

The bride looked lovely in a smart redingote of queen's blue, a sweetheart hat of white felt and white accessories, with a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses and swainsons. Her only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Muriel Field, who wore a powder blue silk dress, a small bridesmaid's hat of white with blue flowers and white accessories; her corsage bouquet was of pink roses and sweet peas. Another indicted for abusing Hitler in verse, and with a caricature of the Fuehrer in his possession, was sentenced to 15 months.

Another, accused of calling the Germans "boches," of displaying pro-British feeling and suspected of writing on railroad station walls the words "new order: hunger," was fined 3,750 francs.

SEATTLE RAINIERS are still tops with their home fans. Back from a flying visit to the Sound City as the guest of Emil Slick and Company for a Sunday doubleheader, we found the Coast League baseball champions can still draw a packed grandstand despite the fact they are holding down third place behind Sacramento and San Diego. Opinion of the majority of the Seattle fans is that the Rainiers will be right in there when the chips are down for the playoffs. They even count on Pepper Martin's Sacramento club to do a lot of slipping before the schedule closes.

Chatted to Bill Mulligan, business manager of the Rainiers, and he informed us the club had taken a bad beating during the past month owing to cold weather. "People just will not come out to the games if it is cold," he said. "This crowd you see today is one of the best we have had this season, due solely to the fact that it is a nice hot day." Mulligan also told us Seattle has a great ball club. "We have suffered from the injury jinx but our team is a good one and the directors are not worrying about its present standing." For those Victorians who are really interested in the Rainiers, we would inform them that Pitcher Cole, who was struck by a batted ball during one of the games last week, will be laid up for about six weeks. He suffered a broken bone in his ankle.

Second game of Sunday's doubleheader was worth the entire trip. We saw some real high-class baseball action crowded into the seven innings. Highlight was in the fifth inning when Jo-Jo White, speedy left fielder, threw out successive runners at the home plate. It was beautiful to watch and made one realize why White was one of the most feared outfielders in the major leagues while playing with Detroit Tigers. The throws were made after White had raced in from deep left field to scoop up singles through shortstop. The first

Baseball Series Tied

Eagles Beat Tillicums

It will be the Eagles vs. Chemainus in a playoff for the right to take possession of the McGavin baseball mug. After a long uphill struggle the Eagles forced a playoff with the uplanders last night when they marched to a 10 to 2 triumph over the Tillicum Athletics. These same Athletics upset the applet for Chemainus by beating them in a doubleheader Saturday.

Final standing in the series finds the Eagles and Chemainus resting in the top spot, each with eight wins against four losses. Date of the playoff will be announced later.

Two three-run scoring spurges in the fourth and sixth innings featured the 10-hit barrage of the lodgements. Tillicums were held to single runs in the sixth and ninth. The clubbers also had a bad night in the field, being charged with eight boners. Stan Davies was the winning throw was straight as an arrow to the catching mitt of Fallon, while the second made the plate on one bounce. The throws were perfect and the runners were out miles. To make it just perfect, Los Angeles players and coaches squawked their heads off on the second call at the plate and Manager Jigger Statz of the Angeles even went so far as to push the umpire around. He was lucky to remain in the game.

Lloyd Brown, veteran Seattle left-hander, gave the game a story-book finish when he lifted the ball over the fence for a home run with two aboard to win his own battle. It was a real Frank Merriwell act and the husky portlander got a great hand from the big crowd. And that home run was certainly no blooper. It was a clean line drive over the right field wall.

Returning on the boat we got in a little boost for Vancouver Island fishing while talking to William F. Hildeman, prominent contractor from Chicago Heights, Ill. A real outdoor devotee, Hildeman, for the past 25 years, has made an annual angling trip to the woods of northern Wisconsin to fish for "muskie." Last year he hooked into a 35-pounder and has it mounted in his office. He was more than interested in the salmon and trout fishing offered on the island and before departing was quite definite in his plans to organize a return trip to the island next summer. Merriwell of a party en route back to Chicago from a national convention at San Francisco, his only regret was an itinerary that would not allow him to stop off for a couple days' fishing at Brentwood. "I'm coming back next summer and make you prove all you have been telling about those big salmon," Hildeman said. "If the spring salmon fishing is as good as you advertise we may remain on the island for a crack at the coho at Cowichan Bay in September and October." We will sure hope for a good run of springs next summer or else leave town.

hurrier, allowing six hits while he struck out 11. Louie Leonard, who opposed him, fanned six. Davies was a little wild at times, issuing six bases on balls.

During the nine innings seven extra-base knocks were seen. It was announced yesterday that the Tacoma Chiefs, semi-pro ball club, will be here Saturday for a pair of exhibition games with the Victoria All-Stars, starting at 2:30 and 6.

Short score: R. H. E.
Eagles..... 10 10 1
Tillicums..... 2 6 8
Batteries—Davies and Patterson, Bridgwood; Leonard and Condon.

BASKETBALL MEETING
The Victoria Basketball Association executive will hold a business meeting tomorrow evening in the Colonist boardroom at 7:30.

The postponed sports of the Saanich schools will be held at Beaver Lake Thursday at 1.

Ruth and Cobb Battle Tomorrow

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Although he never has seen Ty Cobb play golf, Babe Ruth intimates he would suggest a friendly wager on the outcome of their 18-hole charity exhibition tomorrow. "About a year ago Ty and I almost came together for a match," Ruth said. "Ty agreed, but later begged to be excused for an important business appointment. I later learned he spent that day at the world's fair."

Ruth arrived yesterday to make his first inspection of the Commonwealth course. He carded a 79.

The Babe confessed he is pleased his match with Cobb, for the benefit of the Golden Rule farm in Franklin, N.H., the New England boytown, will be only 18 holes.

"That old right knee injury that I took out of baseball generally starts kicking up around the 14th hole, and now that I'm 47 I find that 36 holes a day is hard work," he said.

Bette Davis of the films has put up a trophy for the winner.

'Y' BEATS NAVY

The Navy and "Y" had an enjoyable afternoon on Saturday competing in a friendly manner on the High School football field. Petty Officer Bill Smith was in charge of the small navy squad and was starter. Archie McKinnon handled the "Y" boys. Both squads hope to be represented at Vancouver in the police track meet on July 1.

The events were all closely contested and the "Y" boys managed to win on total points by winning the final event on the program, the half-mile relay.

Brooklyn Moves Close

What might prove to be one of the most significant victories of the National League race was scored by fat Freddie Fitzsimmons of the Dodgers yesterday when he beat Pittsburgh, 9 to 4, in one of the day's two big league games.

The triumph did considerably more than just boost Brooklyn within a half-game of the idle St. Louis Cards. It afforded all most positive proof that Fitzsimmons, the wonder veteran who won 16 and lost only two for a mediocre club last year, is at last ready to begin taking a weekly turn for a team that has pennant fever.

The importance of Fitz, the seemingly unbeatable knuckleballer, being in there at regular intervals—even if only against second-division outfits—scarcely can be over-estimated. He supplies the one thing Brooklyn has shown signs of seriously needing—relief for Whit Wyatt, Leo Casey and Kirby Higbe. Especially since Luke Hamlin got slugged out in his last two starts.

STEADY AS ROCK
Fitz, who will turn 40 soon, was nicknamed for seven hits in as many innings before he yielded to a pinch-hitter in the eighth, but he was steady as a rock in the pinches and would have held the Pirates to a single run if second baseman Pete Coscarart had not fumbled a grounder in the sixth and opened the way for three scores.

The victory was Fitz' third straight and his 13th in a row over the Pirates. Meantime, out at Chicago, Claude Passeau of the Cubs and Hal Schumacher of the Giants hooked up in one of the season's most brilliant duels, with Passeau the eventual victor, 1 to 0. Schumacher allowed only four hits, but two of them were represented by Stan Hack's single and Bill Nicholson's double in the first frame. That beat him, as Passeau held the Giants to three blows.

The American League took a day's rest. Scores follow:

Bays and Jokers In Boxla Clash

James Bay and Jokers will again climb into the local lacrosse box this evening and chew on the bone of boxla contention. So far this season most of the teeth marks are those of the Bays, but Jimmy Smith, who has been doing some extensive reconconditioning on the Joker outfit, thinks that this evening is as good a time as any to steal the blueshirts' supper.

This thought is backed by the addition of new players over the past two weeks, improved teamwork and the learning of the players to use the standing block to good advantage.

The Bay team of course, differs. The boys in the blue and white stripes don't expect a walk-over, but nevertheless are convinced that the game will be just a nice brisk appetizer for Saturday night's battle with the New Westminster Salmonbellies.

In a preliminary at 6, Clark's Painters will take on the Colonist in a juvenile B game. At 7 Douglas Tire and Heaney's will battle, the latter outfit angling for its first win of the season.

LARGE SCORES MARK SOFTBALL

Last night local softball saw some of the most lopsided scores registered on the sheets this year, when Spencers, Hickman Tye and Chinese R.C. charged through to victories.

The Chinese boys moved into the sectional lead by virtue of their 25 to 4 defeat of the Hudson's Bay. The winners drove in runs in every inning but the sixth, and the sensational pitching of Paul Leung muffled the department store sluggers. He struck out 16.

The Hickman Tye-Wilson Cabellu affair was an upset, but after the second inning it could be seen that the hopes of the motor house lads were almost nil. In their second time to bat the hardware shop boys socked in 11 runs to start the long roll home for a 27 to 9 victory.

The cellar-dwelling Civics received a convincing 25 to 6 licking from Spencers.

Tonight the V.M.D. meets MacDonald Electric at Athletic Park and V.L.A.-Causway tackles H.M.C. Dockyard at Victoria West. Spencers play Chinese Recreation Club at lower Central Park.

Intercity Gala Saturday

Saturday night promises to be a hectic night for the mermen and mermaids of Victoria when the Y.M.C.A. aggregation, coached by Archie McKinnon, will compete with a strong team of the Vancouver Swimming Club at the Crystal Garden. Joan Langdon, who broke the world's 50-yard breast stroke record in Kelowna last year, will lead the visiting stars.

With Miss Langdon will also be such popular water performers as Betty Bagdaley, Shirley Muir, Betty Plantec and the Aetzel trio, Audrey, Georgina and Toots. Barry Taylor, a one-time Victoria swimmer, Alex Matheson and Terry Connolly will be others in the invading team.

Percy Norman, Canadian Olympic coach in 1936, will be in charge of the Vancouverites. Activities are scheduled to get under way at 8.

Hammond and Jennings Have Subpar 70's

SPOKANE (AP)—Big names were a dime a dozen, but a couple of unsung Spokaneites elbowed to the front yesterday in the opening day of the Pacific Northwest men's and women's amateur golf tournaments.

At the scenic Spokane Club Marsh Hammond, who Sunday won the city's municipal title, tied for medalist honors at the half-way mark of the 36-hole qualifying round with a 70—sharing top billing with Louis Jennings of Portland, one of Oregon's top golfers. Par is 36-36-72.

And across town at the long and exacting Manito Golf Club, Spokane's Betty Jean Rucker, husky 16-year-old high school girl whose father, Mahlon Rucker, is president of the P.N.G.A., made her dad beam by shooting a 79 for medal honors in the women's 18-hole qualifier.

In so doing, Betty Jean nosed out none other than Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., the national women's champion. Miss Jameson took an 80. Par for Manito is 78.

The three gallery gods, Bud Ward, former national amateur champion; Bing Crosby, the boop-a-dooper from Hollywood who is back in his old home town here for the tourney, and Ken Black, the Canadian amateur champion from Vancouver, B.C., will have to step on it today if they hope to overhaul the leaders. But it looks like a hopeless task.

Ward turned in a 76, Crosby an 77 and Black an 80.

GIVAN HAS 73

Harry Givan, former Walker Cupper and twice a P.N.G.A. titlist, carded a 73, along with Ralph Whaley, the strapping 53-year-old Seattle sportsman-golfer who ousted Ward in the first round of last year's Northwest tourney, and Chuck Hunter, lanky, long-hitting Tacomian.

Two former Northwest champions were among the four bracketed with 75s. Forest Watson, tourney medalist on the same course in 1916 and winner in 1926, and Ken Storey of Spokane, 1934 winner over Whaley, were knotted with Al Kenny of Spokane and Jim Johnson, Portland.

Corals Have Produced Many of World's Islands

Thousands of islands exist in the oceans of the earth. Some are large and are covered with trees, shrubs and grass. Others are small, rocky masses, and have little, if any, plant life on them.

Some islands have been cut off from continents. Great Britain and Ireland, for example, were parts of the mainland of Europe long ago. The sinking of land lets the ocean into certain places, and in that way pieces of land are cut off and become islands.

Several kinds of coral and a surf fish.

Other islands were made by volcanoes. The volcanoes explode at the bottom of the sea, sending out lava and ashes. As time goes on, the lava and ashes build up mounds. If a volcano sends out enough solid matter, it will reach at length to the surface.

The island of Hawaii seems to have been built up by volcanoes from the bottom of the Pacific. It still has volcanoes which throw out great amounts of lava. The highest cone, Mauna Loa, is more than two and a half miles above sea level.

Still other islands have been built by animals of the ocean. These animals are known as "corals," and they have made islands in vast numbers. The Pacific has most of the coral islands, but there are some in other oceans as well.

Examples of coral islands are found in the Florida Keys. These islands, south of Florida, were produced mainly by corals. The city of Key West is on one of the Florida Keys.

The bodies of corals are soft but some kinds take lime from the ocean water. The lime becomes a sort of skeleton for the soft body, and it is left behind when the animal dies.

There are corals which live by themselves, not in colonies, but others have the habit of fastening their bodies to the skeletons of dead corals. Thousands of them may live and die together in one small part of the ocean. Then other thousands take up life above the remains of the older ones.

In that way, layer by layer, a great mound is built. At length it may reach to the surface of the ocean. Coral reefs are such mounds, either at the surface or a little below it. They are a danger to ocean vessels.

When a coral reef reaches the surface, it may be built up further by seaweeds, driftwood, dead fish and so on. In time birds may drop seeds on it, and land plants may grow. It becomes an island in the ocean.

HOROSCOPE

Benefic aspects rule strongly today. This should be an eventful time with sudden developments in the business world and in personal affairs. Financial deals should prove particularly advantageous and persons should seize any new opportunities for gain. Both men and women may accomplish things which ordinarily seem impossible. Influence of the planet Mercury may cause women to do very effective work.

Astrologers declare the position of Mars will have a keen effect on the American people and they will feel themselves very close to war. Sharp differences of opinion over business interests may continue.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of accomplishment. Children born on this day probably will be energetic and persevering. They will usually succeed in whatever they undertake.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX--Two years ago the boy I was engaged to was killed in an automobile accident. I have never forgotten him and even now when I look at the gifts and souvenirs he gave me, and especially at his picture, I cry for hours afterwards. I have lots of friends, both boys and girls, but no one can fill the vacancy in my life that he left. They ask me to go to places with them. I refuse to go. I would rather go home after my work and sit in my room alone and cry. I do not go out with any boys because they are so different from the one I loved, and I cannot keep from bursting into tears when I see or hear anything that reminds me of him, regardless of where I am. I have a good job, but work isn't enough to fill my life, for I am only 20 years old. Can't you tell me something to do so I can forget?

KITTY.

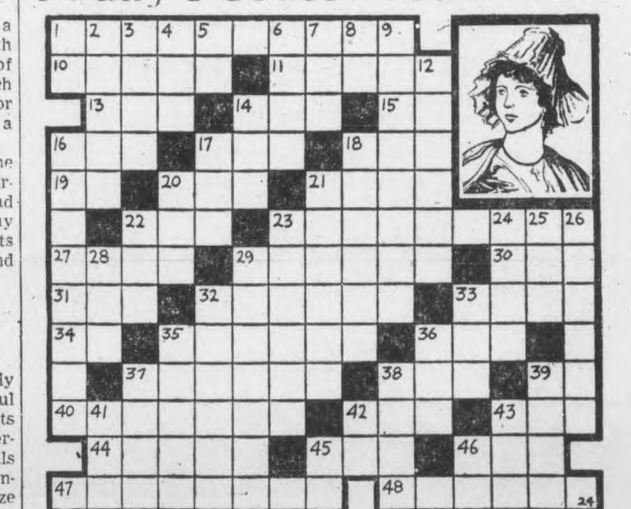

Answer. The only way in which you can get yourself together is to quit dramatizing your sorrow. You don't know it, but you are having a perfectly grand time wallowing in your grief. You are seeing yourself as a romantic figure--the woman who never forgets, who weeps over old love letters, whose heart is buried in a grave, and who only smiles wanly a sad, sweet smile that is sadder than tears.

Look yourself in the face honestly and see if that isn't the picture you paint of yourself and that you hold up for the world to see. And isn't it largely a pose? Of course, you grieve for your sweetheart, but aren't there times when you would really like to get down from your martyr perch and throw away your tear jug and just be the lively, happy, 20-year-old girl you are?

Don't think I am unsympathetic. God knows my heart bleeds for you and every other human being who has lost the one they love, but there is no sense in adding one misfortune to another, or let one sorrow ruin your whole life, and that is what you are doing.

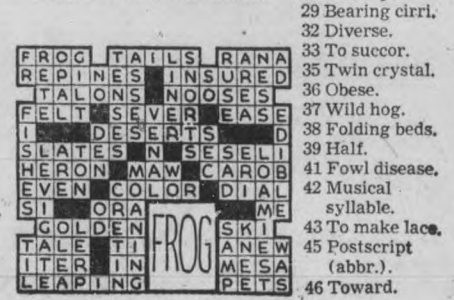

You don't need pity. You need a jolt, and that is what I am trying to give you when I urge you to burn all of the souvenirs that torture you with their memories; to go to places of amusement instead of spending your time in the cemetery, and to enter into all the pleasures and entertainments of your young friends. Otherwise you will soon lose not only them, but your job. For people get tired of Gloomy Janes. They like bright, cheerful people.

C.C.F. Debate Question With B.C.E.R. Heads

Arguments in favor of public ownership were advanced in the C.C.F. brief which closed lower island representations to the provincial public utilities commission's hearings on rates of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Ltd. today.

The case was answered briefly by W. G. Murfin, president of the B.C. Electric, and A. T. Goward, vice-president, with claims comparisons put forward in the brief were not applicable and the contention that the Beck report, on which part of the case was based, was erroneous in important features.

Kenneth McAllister, presenting the brief, outlined the C.C.F. attitude to the effect it favored public ownership, under which a utility operated for the specific benefit of the consumers. Privately-owned utilities had as their primary consideration the well-being of their investors, he stated.

Mr. McAllister also pointed to the probability of grounds for reduced rates in view of the fact the utility, until recently, had been subject to no form of control in the interests of the consuming public.

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, board chairman, stated the commission had the double duty of seeking to protect the public from unjust charges and of seeing the operating company secured a reasonable return on its investment.

Mr. McAllister proceeded with a comparison of rates in force in Victoria with several United States and Canadian cities, comparisons which he said indicated local charges were out of line.

LOW PRODUCTION COSTS

He referred to his experience in the town of Sydney, Nova Scotia, where rates of a privately-operated utility had been reduced from 12 cents a kilowatt hour to eight cents, and remarked an investigation had disclosed actual costs of producing that unit by means of a powdered-coal-fired

Mr. Yardley presented the trophies and prizes, the senior winner being Alan Jupp and the junior, Eric Dowell. Alan Jupp also won the grand aggregate cup. J. Doe and C. Thomas, the other club supervisors, were also present.

REVELSTOCK, B.C. (AP)—William Nydokus, 37, former Vegreville, Alta., and Vernon, B.C., resident, drowned in the Columbia River last night about 10 miles south of here while taking shingle bolts across the river. He operated a shingle mill.

He asked the commission to fix residential rates at a figure 25 to 50 per cent below existing charges, the charge for small commercial users at a point 20 per cent below that now in force, requested a reduction in rates to the city itself and sought an appraisal of the utility plant value for future hearings.

COMPANY'S REPLY
Mr. Murrin stated yesterday's company briefs had answered the arguments based on comparisons by saying they were unfair unless all circumstances were taken into consideration.

He declared the Beck report too erroneous to be a basis of argument and stated the C.C.F. remarks were too general in relation to engineering matters.

Mr. Murrin admitted a private utility had to care for its shareholders, but stated it had also to look after consumers. He disagreed with the policy of public utilities in providing cheap rates to small consumers, saying they were disproportionate.

Mr. Murrin further noted private corporations were subject to taxes which public utilities escaped to a very marked degree.

He questioned the half-cent figure used by Mr. McAllister as the cost basis for Sydney electricity and stated the company was installing a modern steam plant here which could not produce at that figure.

His remarks were elaborated, in respect to the use of electricity by the three large consumers in a prepared brief presented by Mr. Goward. That brief declared figures used by Mr. McAllister incorrect.

Near the close of the hearing Dr. Carrothers stated the commission would, in determining a rate, seek the real value of the company's properties and establish a fair rate of return on that valuation.

Vancouver Council and Pattullo in Argument

Whether daylight saving will be province-wide in British Columbia or restricted to areas where shipbuilding and other war industries require the extra hour remained undecided today but it was expected a decision would be reached by Friday.

The provincial cabinet today considered proposals from Vancouver and Victoria that the government should act rather than leave the plan up to the cities, but did not decide on any policy.

Statute law on the question was being examined to determine which was the best method of advancing the clocks. Under the Daylight Saving Act the province can only make it province-wide and has no power to restrict the clock changes to local areas. In some districts there are no war industries there may be some objection to this.

However, the federal government, under the War Measures Act, can place any area on daylight saving time.

Under its private act Victoria has authority to order daylight saving by resolution of the City Council and so has Vancouver, but other municipalities have no power except when it is approved by plebiscite. Thus if the provincial government does not decide to make it province-wide federal action may be necessary.

Prices of citrus fruits are rising. Wholesale row announced this morning that the orange and lemon market was firmer and that advances were expected in the near future. A car of California oranges was received this afternoon.

The supply of cheap apples, which has been plentiful during the past few weeks, is clearing up, the main body of Newtons having almost disappeared from the market. Local cherries are coming on quickly and will be in their prime this week.

A shipment of apricots was received today and a consignment of honeyballs yesterday. The first shipment of seedless grapes of the season arrived from California today and at the end of the week a carload of watermelons is expected. Small and decreasing shipments of local strawberries are arriving daily.

Victoria will soon suffer a banana shortage. They will be scarce this week and for some time after due to a shortage of ships. Hothouse tomato prices are high. A shipment of fine quality tomatoes was received yesterday.

Chinese Succumbs
A Chinese, believed to be Dong Tong, who fell from a first-story window of the Kon Wo Rooms, Johnson Street, early yesterday morning, succumbed in Jubilee Hospital last night from injuries he sustained.

Before he died the Chinese told city police he fell and that no one had pushed him out of the window.

Dong suffered multiple fractures of the lower spine and pelvic bone, concussion and lacerations to the face in the fall. He was rushed to hospital by city police, where he was attended by Dr. T. W. A. Gray.

The Chinese carried no identification papers and left nothing in his room to show who he was. Little was known about him in Chinatown.

An inquest into his death will be held Thursday morning at 10:30.

British Columbia and the Yukon went 41 per cent over their $60,000,000 quota in putting up $84,798,800 for Canada's Victory War Loan figures released by provincial headquarters today showed.

The total, which included conversions, meant the area has subscribed $106 per capita. Vancouver city, which lagged behind during most of the drive, would up with sales of more than $15,143,800 for a per capita subscription of $53.64. Its quota was $15,000,000.

One Soldier Jailed, Companion Let Off

Desmond Paul Gee, a soldier, was sentenced to serve one year in jail, and Gavin Sinclair, another soldier, was given suspended sentence when they appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court today. Both pleaded guilty to stealing a car belonging to Milvin Clanton of Sidney.

The commanding officer of the men in court yesterday said Sinclair had been a good soldier and was of good character. He said he did not wish to speak on Gee's behalf.

It was because of this, Magistrate Hall said, that Sinclair was given suspended sentence, while Gee was sent to jail.

"I have had no word on your behalf," the magistrate told Gee. "The consent of the attorney-general for suspended sentence is only given on certain conditions and one of them is that I am satisfied you are of good character."

The two men stole Mr. Clanton's car, and later were in collision with a car driven by George Herbertson, Brentwood, at Quadra Street and Topaz Avenue. Between $50 and $75 damage was done to the stolen car and $265 to Mr. Herbertson's car.

B.C.'s Liquor Bill $21,000,000 in Year

British Columbians spent $9,326,948 in government liquor stores in the six months period ended March 31 and raised to $17,590,252 the total receipts of the Liquor Control Board for the fiscal year.

The six months figures were given out today by W. F. Kennedy, board chairman.

Partly due to higher prices of liquor caused by war taxes, sales for the half year were $1,432,000 greater than in the corresponding period of last year. Profits increased by $274,000.

For the full year the increase in sales was $2,600,000 and profits reached a new high of $4,781,464, an increase of $378,000.

In addition to the money taken in by the Liquor Board, the "cut" for beer parlor operators on beer by the glass was around $4,000,000 for the year, which means that British Columbians are now buying spirit and malt liquors at the rate of around $21,000,000 a year.

Sales of whisky, gin, rum and similar spirits amounted to $5,567,065 in the last six-months period, constituting about 60 per cent of the total. This reflected the higher prices for hard liquor.

Revenue from B.C. beer, ale and stout amounted to $1,968,779 from licensed premises and $991,918 from permit holders who buy in bottles. B.C. wines brought in $327,833, Australian and South African wines $143,331 and all other assorted liquors $328,020.

McKelvie Tells Of Good Old Days

Bruce McKelvie humorously reminisced upon the good old days of the general store, the lively stable and the old-fashioned barber shop at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club today.

He described these places as meeting points where men could be men, where discussion was free and open, where opinions were formulated and from where the destinies of a community were governed. At the end of his talk he remarked that places like these do not exist today.

He first mentioned the old general store where the village sages collected around the old stove or the cracker barrel, and argued far into the night. Mr. McKelvie dealt at length upon the wonders of the old-time barber shop, where every man owned his shaving mug and where the athletic and musical activities of the town were discussed. "In those days," said the speaker, "a boy knew he was accepted into man's estate once he had a mug in the barber's shaving case."

David Bruce and Brenda Marshall, in a scene from "Singapore Woman," which is now at the Dominion Theatre.

Seek Single Power Rate For Whole of Saanich

Extension of B.C. Electric rates applicable to consumers in the three mile circle to all of the municipality of Saanich was asked by Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., in a brief to the public utilities commission yesterday afternoon.

Presentation of Saanich's case calling for readjustment of the power company's charges followed that of Victoria. Mr. Whittaker associated Saanich with the city's contention that rates generally were too high.

Having made that point he turned to matters peculiar to Saanich, alleging discrimination in the application of suburban charges.

A section of Saanich fell within the three mile circle, he said. That area enjoyed the same rates as did Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. One mile beyond the three mile limit, population was virtually as heavy as within the three mile sector. In both areas were dairies, small farms and poultry farms. The difference in rate was discriminatory against those in the fourth mile area and created unfair competition among men in similar lines of business, he said. The difference in charges, he said, amounted to 25 per cent on the first step of the primary rate, the basic price being 7½ cents per unit beyond the three mile circle against 5½ cents within that limit. Rates beyond the three mile circle, he added, were the same as those in View Royal, Metcheson and Langford.

LACK THIRD STEP

The secondary rate was the same for the three mile and beyond the three mile districts, but the former enjoyed a tertiary rate not extended to those more distant.

There was a 25-cent difference in the minimum charge and a quarter-cent increase in cooking rates for consumers outside the limit.

He called Wilfred Green, Saanich municipal clerk, to testify to the building going on beyond the limit. That evidence showed approximately one-third of new construction in the outside area.

The area extending one mile beyond the three-mile limit was clearly urban, he said, and was entitled to the same treatment as was the Uplands, a section of Oak Bay, also beyond the three-mile limit which enjoyed city rates.

If the higher charges were to be made arbitrarily he thought full figures and explanations should be given by the company to justify them. He asked when the rate was set, whether or not it was equitable and, if found equitable, whether or not it should be subject to periodic review.

YOUNG DANCERS HELP SOLARIUM

For the purpose of aiding the Queen Alexandra Solarium, the Florence Clough Dance Academy will present a program of specially arranged numbers at the Shrine Auditorium Friday night at 8.

The program, packed with variety and the newest dance steps, promises sparkling entertainment. The Queen Alexandra Junior Auxiliary is assisting with the sale of tickets and the ushering.

The little tots will open the program in a smart military march and taps, then becoming bewitching in a Hawaiian Doli Ballet and as Ziegfeld Babies will star in a stair parade. The intermediate pupils will add variety with interpretive dancing, Russian and Mexican Ballets as well as novelty taps. Among the advanced pupils, the Swingettes, who have achieved enviable popularity in their many appearances in the city, will be seen Friday night with partners in the vedette Apache dance, featuring Velde Vella, Kathleen Burns and Bob Wornlight. Outstanding as always for her exquisite dancing, Daveada Webb will delight with a Pas Seul in a classical number with a Corp de Ballet.

This benefit program is not Miss Clough's annual dance revue which will take place in the fall this year, but is a special effort to raise funds for the crippled children of the Solarium.

'Singapore Woman' At the Dominion

Love, excitement and adventure are three elements that are always found in an engrossing motion picture, and the new Warner Bros. film, "Singapore Woman," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre, has plenty of each. It is a thrilling tale of a woman made despondent by a stigma beyond her control. Set in an ominous, tropical locale, the film tells how this woman, played by Brenda Marshall, became bitter because of a cruel trick of fate and only through love was she able to break the jinx.

Virginia Field, Jerome Cowan and Rose Hobart are cast in the supporting roles. M. Coates Webster and Allen Rivkin adapted the Laird Doyle story to the screen. "Singapore Woman" was directed by Jean Negulesco.

YORK THEATRE

Hollywood motion picture stars are always on the lookout for new games, and the most popular of the moment is "Skoot."

Introduced in the screen colony at recent parties, the game has become a rage for "between the scenes" relaxation. Irene Dunne and Melvyn Douglas, while filming Columbia's "Theodora Goes Wild," now at the York Theatre, were particularly addicted to the fascinating new pastime.

ATLAS THEATRE

It happened in Hollywood. Stage 16, at Universal during the filming of "Buck Privates," now at the Atlas Theatre.

The set was a replica of an army camp recreation center, and in addition to the stars, Abbott and Costello and the Andrews Sisters, there were hundreds of young "conscripts" at the piano, writing home or reading books.

No Martins in Russia

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Glenn Martin, United States aircraft manufacturer, commenting on German claims that seven of nine Martin bombers in one Russian flight were shot down in German-Russian hostilities, asserted: "The Russians have no Martin bombers."

Ten million square yards of runway surface, equivalent to more than 800 miles of standard highways, are being paved in new Canadian airports.
